

Concert for Carver at the Capitol Theatre

By Claire K. Racine, Reporter

Friday, March 25, 2016 7:59 AM

The second Concert for Carver on Saturday evening, Mar. 5 at The Capitol Theatre raised about $325,000 to benefit the Port Chester community center's programming. During a live auction, guests bid thousands of dollars on donated outings like golf and bowling, as well as vacations in Florida and Bermuda and tickets to both the New York Yankees and the Mets. There was also a pre-show party with drinks and food, a performance by students in the afterschool program run by Carver, an actual concert and an after party for VIP donors.

Carver Center Teen Center Members volunteers at the event, helping with concessions and selling t-shirts.

Joshua Tree, a U2 tribute band, rocks out on stage.

Joseph Kwasniewski, the chief executive officer at Carver Center, explains the community center's new mission statement.

King Street School students sing "Copacabana." From left: Sophia Quartarolo, Beatriz Rios, Sophia Ortiz-Heany, Hannah Cabrera, Kaiya Lewis, Karen Yupangui, Ana Garcia and Elana Marti.