Carver Center overtaken by mounds of donations

Hundreds come out to give much-needed items for Puerto Rico

By Casey Watts, Reporter

Thursday, October 5, 2017 1:12 AM

You're never too young to start giving back. Seven-year-old Noah and his mother Michelle Ramas-Concepcion and his father John Concepcion all pitched in to donate clothes and water for hurricane victims in Puerto Rico. The family of three spent their Saturday, Sept. 30 afternoon behind the Carver Center (400 Westchester Ave.) sorting through the mountains of goods donated by community members. The drive was sponsored by Candy Escobar, Edgar Burgos and Chris Vega of Winning Hand Movers.
