Over 100 coats were provided to elementary and middle school-aged boys and girls this week to help keep them safe and warm this winter.

"Our attitude here is that our clients deserve the best," said CEO of the Carver Center Anne Bradner. "If you go to school and everybody's got a new coat, you want a new coat, too, and not wearing a last year's ill-fitting hand-me-down or whatever. It's a real point of self-esteem."

Carver Center volunteers and staff met with families during the organization's coat drive distribution on the lower level of the 400 Westchester Ave. building from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and again from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 15.
